169 Death of Ennius. Crates of Mallos reaches Rome from Pergamum 'sub ipsam Ennii mortem', and lectures on 'Grammar'.

168 L. Aemilius Paulus, consul, wins the great battle of Pydna. The Illyrian and Epirote allies of Perseus are also beaten. Death of the dramatist Caecilius Statius. Temple of 'Fortuna huiusce diei' on the Palatine.

167 Macedonia divided into four protectorates. After this year the 'tributum' ceased to be exacted from the Roman citizen. Polybius, one of 1000 Achaeans prisoners, brought to Rome.

166 The 'Andria' of Terence exhibited at the 'ludi Megalenses'. The 'ager Campanus' regulated.

164 Perseus dies at Alba. Reconciliation between Rhodes and Rome.

163 Ptolemy Philometor, ejected from Egypt, is a suppliant for Roman aid.

161 Greek philosophers and rhetoricians expelled from Rome. The independence of the Jews recognised by the Senate about this time.

160 The 'Adelphi' of Terence exhibited.

157 Cato having been sent as one of an embassy to mediate between Carthage and Masinissa, begins his denunciations of Carthage. Ariarathes, king of Cappadocia, ejected from his kingdom, seeks Roman aid. Roman citizen colony founded at Auximum (in Picenum).

156 War in Dalmatia. The lex Aelia and lex Fujiia.

155 Diogenes the Stoic, Critolaus the Peripatetic and Carneades the Academic visit Rome as envoys from Athens and give lectures in philosophy and rhetoric.
Ligurians who had been laying waste the territory of Massilia were attacked, and a Roman force operated to the West of the Alps for the first time (with the exception of the landing at the Rhone in 218); also the lex Licinia and lex Aebutia (forbidding the proposer of a law and his kin to fill an office created by the law) were passed about this time.

Kal. Ian. henceforth is the time for the magistrates (excepting the tribunes and quaestors) to enter on office. The tribunes' day was Dec. 10; the quaestors' Dec. 5. Romans defeated by the Celtibери.

Surrender of a Roman army to the Lusitani. War between Carthage and Masinissa. Roman embassy to Africa. Temple of Felicitas in the Velabrum.

FROM THE THIRD PUNIC WAR TO THE TRIBUNATE OF TI. GRACCHUS.

Law forbidding the consulship to be held twice by the same man. War declared against Carthage. Surrender of Utica.

The severe demands of the Romans force the Carthaginians to continue the war. Virīthīs, the Lusitanian leader, wins many successes against the Romans in this and the following years, to 141. War with Andîscus, the pretended son of Perseus in Macedonia. Death of Cato and of Masinissa. Lucī Saeculares at Rome. Lex Calpurnia de repetundis establishes the first 'quaestio perpetua'.

Poor success of the Romans in Africa. The Via Postumia, from Genua to Verona, constructed. Andîscus overcome.

P. Cornelius Scipio Aemilianus as consul besieges Carthage. War with the Achaean.

 Destruction of Carthage and establishment of the Roman province of Africa. Corinth destroyed by Mummius. Achaia and Macedonia form another province. Temple of Iuppiter Stator in the 'circus Flaminius'.

Attempt to pass a law, submitting the priests of the great colleges to popular election, is foiled by Lælius. In this year (probably) C. Lælius introduced an agrarian law and earned the title 'Sapiens' by withdrawing it. Splendid ludi (including scenici) exhibited by L. Mummius.

The 'aqua Marcia' introduced into the city.

'Pseudophilippus' crushed in Macedonia. Censorship of P. Scipio Aemilianus and L. Mummius. Journey of Scipio to the East. Fabius Maximus Serullianus the annalist is consul.

Peace on equal terms made by Fabius Maximus with Virīthīs. Q. Pompeius makes a treacherous peace with the Numantines. Q. Serullius, brother of Fabius and consul, breaks the peace. Virīthīs assassinated at the instance of Q. Serullius. Birth of L. Antonius Crassus the orator.

The treaty with Numantia repudiated and war continued. Rising of slaves in Sicily. Lex Gabinia, the first of the Roman ballot laws. Expulsion of 'Chaldaei' from Rome.

Roman defeat by the Numantines. A consul placed in chains by a tribune. Birth of Sulla. Pollentia in Spain receives the 'Latinitas'. Temple of Mars in the Campus Martius.

Lex Cassia tabellaría, the second ballot-law. C. Hostilius Mancinus makes peace with the Numantines, to save his army, in which Ti. Gracchus was serving. The Senate repudiate the peace and offer to surrender Mancinus to the Numantines.

The proconsul M. Aemilius Lepidus, having suffered defeat in Spain, is stripped of his 'imperium'.

Great slave rising in Sicily.
Scipio besieges Numantia. In his suite were Iugurtha, Marius and Lucilius the satirist.

162. THE AGE OF THE GRACCHI.

Tribunate of Ti. Gracchus, his 'lex agraria' and destruction by a rabble of optimates, headed by P. Scipio Nasica who for safety's sake takes a mission to Asia. Scipio Aemilianus captures Numantia. Attalus III, last king of Pergamon, bequeaths to Rome his realm, which becomes the Roman province of Asia. The annalist L. Calpurnius Piso Frugi is consul.

Triumph of Scipio Aemilianus. Rising of Aristonicus in Asia. P. Licinius Crassus, father-in-law of C. Gracchus, fills the vacant place on the agrarian commission, the other two members being C. Gracchus and Ap. Claudius, father-in-law of Ti. Gracchus. The Senate empowers the consuls to arraign and punish the adherents of Ti. Gracchus. Death of Scipio Nasica in Asia. Triumph of D. Brutus over the Lusitani and Gallaeci.

Failure of an attack on Aristonicus. End of the slave revolt in Sicily and settlement of the province by the 'leges Rupiliae'. C. Papirius Carbo fails to pass his law 'de tribunis reificendiis', but carries his 'lex tabellaria' (the third). Two plebeian censors in office together for the first time.

Surrender of Aristonicus.

Dissensions concerning the execution of the agrarian law. The commissioners are deprived of the power of deciding on the limits of the 'ager publicus'. Death of P. Scipio Aemilianus.

Law of M. Iunius Pennus to expel foreigners from Rome and 'lex Iunia repetundarum'.

M. Fulvius Flaccus proposes a law for enfranchising the 'socii'; then goes off to defend Massilia against the Salluuii. Revolt and destruction of Fregellae.

Aquae Sextiae founded in Gaul by the proconsul C. Sextius. War with the Aruerni and Allobroges. Roman citizen colony established at Fabrateria (a consequence of the destruction of Fregellae). C. Gracchus elected tribune.

The first series of laws brought forward by C. Gracchus, who is reelected to the tribunate.

The 'lex iudiciaria' and 'lex de provinciis' of C. Gracchus. The 'lex Acilia repetundarum' ('C.J.L. 1, 168'). Counter agitation by M. Liuius Drusus while Gracchus was absent attempting to found a colony of citizens at Carthage, in accordance with the 'lex Rubria'. Foundation of the Roman citizen colonies 'Minervia' (at Scylacium) and 'Neptunia' (at Tarentum); both projected by C. Gracchus.

L. Opimius (consul) attacks the re-founding of Carthage. The 'senatus consultum ultimum' passed for the first time, in pursuance of which C. Gracchus and M. Fulvius Flaccus and many of their followers are massacred. Many citizens tried and executed by order of the Senate alone. Victories over the Allobroges and Aruerni.

163. FROM THE DEATH OF C. GRACCHUS TO THE SIXTH CONSULSHIP OF MARIUS.

L. Opimius, accused of treason, is defended by Carbo and acquitted.

Carbo, prosecuted for treason by L. Crassus the orator (then a young man), commits suicide. C. Marius (tribune) carries a law to check undue influence in the voting at the comitia ('pontes angustos fecit').

Foundation of Narbo Martius (one of the burgess colonies projected by C. Gracchus). Agrarian law (Appian, B. C. 1, 27).

Trouble raised in Africa by Iugurtha. C. Marius elected praetor. Birth of M. Terentius Varro, the polymath.

164. FROM THE SUPPRESSION OF SATURNINUS TO THE END OF THE SOCIAL WAR.

99 Lex agraria of S. Titius, also quashed by the Senate. Condemnation of supporters of Saturninus by commission from the Senate. Recall of Metellus. Birth of Lucretius.

98 'Lex Caecilia Didia' requiring the interval of the 'trinundinum' between the publication of a law and the voting on it and forbidding legislation 'per saturam'.

97 Human sacrifice said to have been forbidden at Rome.

96 The realm of Cyrene is bequeathed to Rome by the king, but the Senate decrees the freedom of the cities there.

95 'Lex Licinia Mucia de ciuibus in suam ciuitatem redigundis' (to expel from Rome the socii who had no right to settle there). Passed by the two consuls, Crassus the orator and Scaenaola the pontifex maximus. This law was a chief cause of the Social war. Birth of Cato 'Utinensis'.

92 L. Cornelius Sulla (propraetor) reinstates Ariobarzanes, king of Cappadocia, who had been driven out by Mithridates. Condemnation of P. Rutilius (ex-consul) brings the equestrian 'judices' into great disrepute.

91 M. Livius Drusus runs a career similar to that of C. Gracchus. His laws are quashed by the Senate. The sudden death of Drusus, and his failure to enfranchise the Italians, bring on the Social war. Law of Q. Varius Hybrida, establishing a special court to try those who had encouraged the allies. Many condemned in the following year. Death of the orator Crassus.

90 The Social war proceeds with varying fortune. The 'lex Iulia' confers the franchise on the allies who had not joined in the revolt. L. Plotius Gallus teaches rhetoric in Latin.

89 'Lex Plautia Papiria' extends the grant of the franchise. During this year and the early part of the following the allies are overcome. The 'lex Plautia judiciaia' and the lex Pompeia 'de Transpadanis'. Mithridates expels Ariobarzanes from Cappadocia and Nicomedes from Bithynia. The Greek sculptor Pasiteles comes to Rome about this time.

165. SULLA AND THE MARIAN PARTY.

88 Consulship of Sulla, to whom the war against Mithridates is assigned. P. Sulpicius Rufus, tribune of the plebs, passes a law to distribute the new citizens and the libertini over the 35 tribes and another depriving Sulla and his colleague of their provinces and appointing Marius to the command in Asia Minor. Rufus is killed; Marius and his son are driven to flight. Q. Pompeius, the second consul, is killed by his soldiers. Mithridates overruns Asia and orders a great massacre of Romans.

87 Mithridates conquers most of the islands and passes to Athens. Sulla besieges it into the next year when it is captured. Revolutionary proceedings at Rome of L. Cornelius Cinna (consul) who is driven out by his colleague Octavius and stripped of his imperium. Marius comes to his support and captures the city. Massacre of distinguished men. Birth of Catullus and of Sallust.

L. Valerius Flaccus, elected in his place, is sent to take command against Mithridates while Cinna remains in Rome. Archelaus, general of Mithridates, is defeated at Chaeronea by Sulla. Census, [the 'lustrum' was not completed again till 23 B.C.]. Lex Valeria 'de aere alieno'.

166. FROM SULLA'S DEATH TO THE FIRST CONSULSHIP OF POMPEIUS.

78 Death of Sulla early in the year. Dissension between the two consuls, M. Aemilius Lepidus and Q. Lutatius Catulus, because the former aimed at overthrowing the régime established by Sulla. Sertorius defeats Metellus. Lex Plautia 'de ui'.

77 The proconsul Catulus defeats M. Lepidus at the 'pons Mulvius', and again in Etruria. The 'senatus consultum ultimum' passed against Lepidus, who flees to Sardinia and dies there. Many of his followers, including M. Perperna, join Sertorius. C. Iulius Caesar prosecutes Dolabella, ex-governor of Macedonia, for extortions.

76 Cn. Pompeius defeats and kills M. Brutus, the legate of Lepidus in Cisalpine Gaul, and is despatched to Spain as colleague of Metellus with equal authority, but is not fortunate at first. An agitation begun to remove some of Sulla's restrictions on the tribunate.

75 A law of C. Aurelius Cotta (consul) restores to the tribunes the right of standing for other magistracies after the tribunate. Some districts annexed in Cilicia, in consequence of the war with the pirates. Cicero quaestor in Sicily.

74 The consuls L. Licinius Lucullus and M. Aurelius Cotta are commissioned to attack Mithridates, the former on land, the latter by sea. [Lucullus remained in Asia till 67.] Cotta is severely defeated by Mithridates, who attacks Cyzicus, but is himself besieged by Lucullus. Great successes of Sertorius-Bithynia, bequeathed to Rome by king Nicomèdes, becomes a province; also Cyrene. A large commission given to M. Antonius against the pirates.

73 Severe defeat of Mithridates at Cyzicus; his fleet is destroyed by storm soon after. The war of gladiators and slaves under Spartacus begins. Lex Terentia Cassia frumentaria. Agitation of C. Licinius Macer (tribune).

72 Spartacus defeats both the consuls of the year and a proconsul. Sertorius assassinated by the treachery of Perperna, who is defeated and killed by Cn. Pompeius. Lucullus makes his way into Pontus.
71 Spartacus destroyed near Regium with most of his followers by M. Crassus (praetor). Cn. Pompeius returning from Spain falls in with and cuts to pieces the rest of the insurgents. Failure of M. Antonius in an attack on Crete, and his death. Lucullus drives Mithridates before him. Triumph of Pompeius (end of Dec.).

167. FROM THE FIRST CONSULSHIP OF POMPEIUS TO CAESAR'S FIRST CONSULSHIP.

69 Lucullus defeats Tigranes and captures Tigranocerta. Cicero curule aedile.

68 Lucullus, on his way to attack Artaxata, is checked by the mutiny of his soldiers. He captures Nisibis. Mithridates occupies Lesser Armenia. Caesar questor in Spain.

67 Return of Mithridates to Pontus. Severe defeat of C. Triarius, a legate. The soldiers stop the operations of Lucullus. Tigranes overrun Cappadocia. Lex Calpurnia de ambitu. Lex Roscia theatralis. Lex Gabinia giving Pompeius an extraordinary commission against the pirates, who are subdued in three months. Lex Cornelia on ‘solutio legibus’. Lex Gabinia on reception of embassies by Senate.

66 The lex Manilia (supported by Cicero, who was then praetor, in the extant speech) bestows on Pompeius exceptional powers, for the war against Mithridates.

64 Pompeius in Syria, which is made a province. Senatus Consultum dissolves illegal ‘collegia’.

63 Consulship of Cicero (the first ‘novus homo’ since 94). His speeches against the agrarian law of Rullus, against Catiline, and in defence of Kabirus (perduellionis reus) and Murena. ‘Senatus consultum ultimum’ passed (21 Oct.), and execution of the Catilinarians (5 Dec.). Pompeius in Iudaea. Mithridates assassinated. Lex Tullia de ambitu. Law requiring personal ‘professio’ of candidates for office probably passed in this year. Birth of the future Emperor Augustus.

61 Return and triumph of Cn. Pompeius. Clodius tried by a special court and acquitted.

60 The refusal of the Senate to confirm the ‘acta’ of Pompeius, and to remit a portion of the price payable by the publicani for the right of collecting taxes in Asia, leads to the formation of a political compact between Caesar, Pompeius and Crassus, to exploit the state for their own purposes. Abolition of the ‘portoria’ of Italy by a lex Caecilia.

1 The Syriac form is Nitsibim, and a hexameter line in the Epitaph of Abercius ends with Nitsibos (W. M. Ramsay’s Cities... of Phrygia, 727, and Lightfoot’s Ignatius, i 481, 497). On the other hand, Corippus, Iohannis, i 60, has ‘Nitsibis agri | et Nesebis’.

FROM CAESAR'S FIRST CONSULSHIP TO HIS WAR WITH THE POMPEIANS.

59 Caesar's first consulship, with Bibulus for colleague. Caesar's lex agraria (dividing the 'ager Campanus', and establishing Capua as a 'colonia'). Law remitting a portion of their payment to the publicani. Another to confirm the 'acta' of Pompeius. A lex Vatinius bestows the province of Gallia Cisalpina on Caesar, with Illyricum, for five years, and the Senate adds Gallia Narbonensis. Lex Iulia 'repetundarum'. Latin colony at Nouum Comum. Clodius transferred to the plebs, by aid of Caesar and Pompeius. Cicero's speech 'pro Flacco'. Bibulus proclaims that by 'watching the sky' he has rendered the legislation of this whole year invalid.

58 Revolutionary legislation of Clodius concerning restrictions on legislation, the freedom of the 'collegia', the corn-dole, and the 'nota censoria'. A law of his sends M. Cato to Cyprus to annex it, another gives Macedonia as province to one of the consuls, Piso, and Syria to the other, Gabinius, with enormous grants from the treasury. By legislation, Clodius drives Cicero into exile. Caesar defeats the Helvetii and Ariovistus.

57 Subjection of the Belgae by Caesar. Ptolemy, king of Egypt, expelled from his kingdom, seeks Roman aid. Return of Cicero (4 Sept.). Pompeius receives the 'cura annonae' with extensive powers for five years. Catullus on the staff of Memmius, governor of Bithynia.

56 Conference between Pompeius, Caesar, and Crassus at Luca. Cicero's speeches 'pro Sestio' and 'in Vatinium', 'pro Caecio', 'de provinciis consularibus', 'pro Balbo'.

55 Second consulship of Pompeius and Crassus after an 'interregnum'. Lex Trebonia bestowing the provinces of Spain on Pompeius, and Syria on Crassus, with great grants from the treasury. Caesar's tenure of his provinces extended for a second period of five years. Caesar's crossing of the Rhine and first expedition to Britain. Gabinius, governor of Syria, for a great bribe, restores Ptolemy. Lex Pompeia judiciaria. Lex Licinia de sodaliciis. Cicero's speech 'in Pisonem'. Death of Lucretius. Theatre of Pompeius, with shrines of Venus Victrix, Honos and Virtus, Felicitas. Completion of Cicero's dialogue 'de Oratore' (Nov.).

54 Second expedition of Caesar to Britain. Rising of the Nerii and other Gaulish tribes. Crassus plunders the temple at Jerusalem. Pompeius remains near Rome, sending legati to govern his provinces for him. Cicerō defends Gabinius and Scævorus (both 'repetundarum') and Plancius ('ambitus'), and begins the 'De re publica'. Death of Iulia, Caesar's daughter, wife of Pompeius. Death of Catullus.

53 An 'interregnum' of more than six months. Caesar's second crossing of the Rhine. Crushing defeat of the Roman army by the Parthians at Carrhae (9 June), and death of Crassus.

52 The year opens with an 'interregnum'. On Jan. 18 Milo kills Clodius on the Appian way ('pugna Bouilliana'). Disorders caused by the funeral of Clodius. Near the end of Febr. Pompeius is elected consul for the third time, and for some months without a colleague. Special laws passed concerning violence and bribery, under which Milo and many others are condemned. Law prolonging Pompeius' tenure of his provinces for another five years. Lex Pompeia giving Caesar the right to stand for the consulship without appearing in Rome. Then Pompeius, in a general law about magistracies, omits to mention Caesar's privilege. The great movement of Vercingetorix in Gaul. Capture of Alesia. Cicero's speech 'pro Milone'; he begins his dialogue 'de Legibus'.

Struggle between the factions of Caesar and Pompeius. Curio as tribune defends Caesar, who parts with two legions (one previously lent to him by Pompeius) to be sent as reinforcements to the East. These legions retained by Pompeius. Death of Hortensius the orator. Destruction of a temple of Isis within the walls by order of the Senate.

169. FROM THE CROSSING OF THE RUBICON TO THE TRIUMVIRATE.

7 Jan. A resolution proposed to the Senate for depriving Caesar of his command is vetoed by two tribunes, Q. Cassius and M. Antonius. These, threatened with violence, take refuge with Caesar. The ‘Senatus consultum ultimum’ is passed, authorising Pompeius and others to deal with Caesar, who crosses the Rubicon, and pursues Pompeius to Brundisium, but fails to bar his departure for Greece (17 Mar.). Caesar crushes Pompeius’ partisans at Ilerda in Spain (2 Aug.) and then captures Massilia. Returning to Rome he holds his first dictatorship for eleven days only, during which he is elected consul. Caesar’s officers Curio in Africa and Dolabella in the Adriatic defeated. The ‘ciuitas’ bestowed on the Transpadanes. Lex Rubria.

Caesar crosses into Greece. Pompeius besets Caesar at Dyrhachium. Caesar breaks through and wins the great battle of Pharsalia in Thessaly (9 Aug.). Flight of Pompeius to Egypt, where he is killed. Caesar enters on his second dictatorship at Alexandria. The ‘tribunicia potestas’ bestowed on him. Agitation set on foot by Cælius.

Cicero’s later Philippic orations. Laws and ‘acta’ of Antonius annulled. Octavian, receiving praetorian imperium, is given a command against Antonius, along with the two consuls, Hirtius and Pansa. Death of the two consuls at Mutina (Apr.). Antonius driven into Gallia Transalpina. Brutus meanwhile occupies Macedonia, and Cassius Syria. Octavian demands further recognition at the sword’s point, and on 19 Aug. is made consul with Q. Pedius. ‘Lex Pedia’ establishing a court to try Caesar’s murderers.
Antonius crosses the Alps with a large force. Decimus Brutus killed by his own soldiers. Agreement between Antonius, Lepidus and Octavian to form the 'Triumvirate', with absolute power, nominally conferred by law, for five years. Proscriptions follow. Birth of Ovid. Death of the great lawyer Ser. Sulpicius Rufus.

170. FROM THE BATTLE OF PHILIPPI TO THE DEATH OF ANTONIUS.

42 The two battles at Philippi and the deaths of Brutus and Cassius (Sept. Oct.). Antonius goes to the East, Octavian to Italy. Gallia Cisalpina incorporated with Italy. Birth of the future emperor Tiberius.

41 'Bellum Perusinum'. Sextus Pompeius and Dolabella range the sea with fleets. Antonius goes to Alexandria with Cleopatra.

40 C. Asinius Pollio consul. L. Cornelius Balbus 'consul suffectus' (not having passed through the lower offices); the first man of non-Roman birth to obtain the consulate. Surrender of Perusia (Mar.). Trouble with Sextus Pompeius. Expedition of Antonius to Brundisium. 'Treaty of Brundisium' concluded, dividing the Roman world between Octavian and Antonius, with little regard to Lepidus and some concessions to Sextus Pompeius. Antonius marries Octavian's sister Octavia. Herod, a fugitive at Rome, declared king of Judaea by the Senate. The last 'lex tribunica' passed in this year.

38 The conditions of the 'Treaty of Misenum' not having been carried out, Sext. Pompeius makes war. Two fleets of Octavian destroyed. He marries Livia. The legate of Antonius, Ventidius Bassus, defeats the Parthians. Sixty-seven praetors in this year, holding office for brief periods.

37 Differences between Octavian and Antonius adjusted by the 'Treaty of Tarentum'. Probable formal extension of the Triumviral imperium for another five years (denied by Mommsen). Octavian sends two legions to Antonius, while Antonius sends a fleet to Octavian, to be used against Pompeius. 'Portus Iulius' constructed by Agrippa. C. Sosius, legate of Antonius, captures Jerusalem after a siege and establishes Herod as king.

36 Failure of a fresh expedition against Pompeius. Then Agrippa, aided by Lepidus, who crossed into Sicily from Africa, crushes Pompeius. Octavian strips Lepidus of his power and annexes his province of Africa. Failure of Antonius' expedition against Parthia. 'Potestas tribunicia' of Octavian.

35 Last effort of Sext. Pompeius in Asia, where he is killed. Military mutiny in Italy.

34 Conquest of the Dalmatians and the Salassi by Octavian's commanders. Death of the historian Sallust.

33 New Dalmatian war. Refusal of Antonius to meet Octavia, who desired to arrange differences between him and her brother.

32 Divorce of Octavia by Antonius, who is attacked in the Senate by Octavian. Antonius deprived of his imperium and war proclaimed, nominally against Cleopatra. Octavian now probably rested his authority on his special war-commission. Death of T. Pomponius Atticus.

31 Battle of Actium (1 Sept.). Octavian winters in Asia.
I71. FROM THE BATTLE OF ACTIUM TO THE ESTABLISHMENT OF THE EMPIRE.

30 Fourth consulship of Octavian. He is called to Italy in the spring by the insubordination of the soldiers, and the general unrest. He divides lands among his veterans; then goes by way of Greece to Egypt, arriving in the summer. Death of Antonius († Aug.) and Cleopatra. Annexation of Egypt and occupation of all the dominions of Antonius. Recognition of Herod, with increased territory. Horace’s Second Book of Satires. Octavian winters at Samos.

28 Sixth consulship of Octavian. With his colleague Agrippa he carries out a census of Roman citizens and removes about 200 members from the Senate. Dedication of temple of Apollo on the Palatine and celebration of ‘ludi’ in honour of Actium. Control of aerarium given to ex-praetors chosen annually by the Senate (‘praefecti aerarii Saturni’). Octavian annuls exceptional measures taken since the creation of the Triumvirate.

27 Seventh consulship of Octavian. He resigns his extraordinary powers (Jan.) and ‘transfers the commonwealth to the Roman people’ (Monumentum Ancyranum). The provinces are divided between him and the Senate, and a law confirms him in his control for ten years, with the power to make war and peace. Many further honours decreed to him, including the name ‘Augustus’. The laurel chaplet and ‘corona civica’ (henceforth imperial emblems) placed on the door of his palace. He visits Gaul (late in the year) and organises the provinces of Aquitania, Gallia Lugdunensis and Belgica. Elections by comitia restored, the emperor receiving the right of ‘commendatio’ whereby he fills a certain proportion of the places. Poem of Tibullus in honour of Messalla’s triumph.

I72. FIRST DECENNIUM OF THE REIGN OF AUGUSTUS.

26 Eighth consulship of Augustus (entered on in Spain). Suicide of Cn. Cornelius Gallus; charged with treason. Tiridates, exiled king of Parthia, visits Augustus in Spain, bringing with him the young son of his successful rival Phraates. Death of the polymath M. Terentius Varro (or 27).

25 Ninth consulship of Augustus. New office of ‘Praefectus Vrbi’ conferred on Messalla; his resignation after a few days; the office long remains in abeyance. Successful attacks on the Cantabri and Astures in Spain, the Salassi (sub-Alpine tribe) and on some German tribes. Expedition of Aelius Gallus to Arabia. Augusta Emerita (Merida) founded; also Augusta Praetoria (Aosta). Marriage of Iulia and the young Marcellus. Agrippa completes the Pantheon.

24 Tenth consulship of Augustus, who reaches Rome near the end of the year. He surrenders the young prince to Phraates. The first three books of Horace’s Odes.

23 Eleventh consulship of Augustus, which he resigns during a critical illness. The ‘potestas tribunicia’ conferred on him for life in a new form; also (according to some authorities) the ‘proconsulare imperium’. Great commission in the East given to Agrippa; but he retires to Mitylene, for two years.
Death of Marcellus (late summer). The ‘praefecti aerarii’ replaced by two of the praetors.

22 Famine and pestilence cause the people to clamour for Augustus to accept a dictatorship and censorship for life. He declines an offer of a life consulship, but accepts a special ‘cura annonae’. Censors appointed, the last, excepting Claudius, and the Flavian emperors, who held the office.
‘Ludi publici’ transferred to praetors, with a subvention from the treasury.
Conspiracy of Caepio and Murena. Fresh revolts in Spain. Cyprus and the Prouincia Narbonensis transferred to the Senate. Augustus leaves for the East.

21 Augustus, elected consul, declines; electoral riots ensue. Agrippa is compelled to divorce the emperor’s niece, and to marry Iulia. He is placed in charge of affairs at Rome. Augustus in Greece and at Samos.

20 Visit of Augustus to Asia Minor, where he makes many changes in the status of cities, peoples and princes. Tiberius commands an expedition to Armenia. Phraates surrenders the Roman standards. Birth of Gaius, son of Agrippa and Iulia. The first book of Horace’s Epistles.

19 Augustus reaches Rome (12 Oct.). ‘Ludi Augustales’ instituted to celebrate annually the day of his return. Dedication of a temple of Româ with Augustus at Pergamum. The Cantabri exterminated by Agrippa. Death of Virgil at Brundisium, on his way back from Greece, in company of Augustus (21 Sept.). Death of Tibullus.

18 Imperial powers, given in 27, renewed for five years. The ‘potestas tribunicia’ given to Agrippa for five years. Lex Iulia de adulteriiis passed, but a ‘lex de maritandiis ordinibus’ rejected by the comitia. Senate reduced to 600 members. Herod visits Rome.

I73. SECOND DECEMNIUM OF AUGUSTUS.

17 Birth of Lucius, son of Agrippa and Iulia, who leave Rome for the East. The emperor adopts, as his sons, his two grandsons. The ‘ludi saeculares’, with Horace’s ‘carmen saeculare’.

16 Defeat of Lollius in Germany. Augustus goes with Tiberius to Gaul.
Noricum made a province, under a ‘procurator’; Rispings in Illyricum, Istria and Thrace. T. Statilius Taurus named ‘Praefectus Vrbi’ during the absence of Augustus from Rome. Death of Propertius.

15 Victory of Tiberius and Drusus over the Rhaet and Vindelici (1 Aug.).
Annexation of their country as a procuratorial province. Pacification and organisation of sub-Alpine districts. Augustus reserves to himself the right to coin gold and silver for the empire, leaving to the Senate the copper coinage (now resumed, after a long period of abeyance). Birth of Germanicus (son of Drusus) and of Drusus (son of Tiberius).

14 Many colonies founded about this time, especially in Spain and Gaul. Agrippa confirms Jewish privileges in the cities of Asia. Composition of the ‘res gestae diui Augusti’ (‘Monumentum Ancyranum’).

13 First consulship of Tiberius (passed in Rome). Return of Augustus to the capital (4 July). Drusus in sole command in Gaul and on the Rhine.
Return of Agrippa and renewal of his ‘tribunicia potestas’ for five years;
he leaves to suppress a great revolt in Pannonia. Death of Lepidus, formerly Triumvir (vacating the office of Pontifex Maximus’). Probable date of the fourth book of Horace’s Odes and his Epistle to Augustus.

12 Election of Augustus as Pontifex Maximus (6 Mar.). After this the office is restricted to the emperors. Death of Agrippa. Tiberius succeeds him in Pannonia, while Drusus repels the Sicambri and other tribes on the Rhine. Important operations of a Roman flotilla on the Rhine and the sea-coast between Rhine and Weser. The Epistle of Horace to Florus.

11 Dedication of the theatre of Marcellus (4 May). Death of the emperor’s sister Octavia. Tiberius compelled to divorce the daughter of Agrippa, and to marry Iulia. Victories of Drusus on the Rhine. Campaign of Tiberius in Pannonia. Trouble in Thrace and Macedonia. Ilyricum transferred from Senate to Emperor.

10 Augustus visits Gaul and (1 Aug.) inaugurates the famous ‘ara Romae et Augusti’ at Lugudunum. Continuance of the war in Germany and Pannonia. Herod completes Caesarea, so named in honour of Augustus.

9 Dedication of the ‘ara pacis Augustae’ (30 Jan.). Drusus penetrates to the Elbe, but during his retreat dies from the effect of a fall from his horse (14 Sept.). Tiberius brings the body to Rome. The name ‘Germanicus’ bestowed on Drusus and his descendants. Triumph of Tiberius over Dalmatians and Pannonians. Horace’s Epistle to the Pisones. Livy’s History ended with this year.

174. THIRD DECENNIUM OF AUGUSTUS.

7 Triumph of Tiberius for German victories. Fresh campaign in Germany.

6 Renewal of the ‘tribunicia potestas’ of Tiberius for five years. He is sent on an important mission to the East, but retires for some years to Rhodes. The ‘tropaeum Augusti’ at Turbia erected to commemorate the subjugation of 46 sub-Alpine tribes.

5 The prince Gaius assumes the ‘toga virilis’ and among other honours is named ‘princeps iuuentutis’ by the Equites.

4 Death of Herod. His will, dividing his dominions among three sons, confirmed by Augustus. Census of the Jews carried out by the legate of Syria. P. Sulpicius Quirinius. Disturbances in Judæa. Birth of L. Annaeus Seneca at Corduba.

2 Augustus receives the title ‘pater patriae’. Recipients of corn at Rome reduced from 330,000 to 200,000. The prince Lucius assumes the ‘toga virilis’ and receives honours (including the title ‘princeps iuuentutis’). Banishment of Iulia (with her daughter Iulia) and punishment of her accomplices.

1 Gaius goes, on a mission of importance, to the East.

A.D. 1 Gaius consul (though in Syria).

3 Imperial powers renewed for ten years. Gaius wounded in Armenia.

175. FOURTH DECENNIUM OF AUGUSTUS.

4 Gaius dies of his wound in Lycia (21 Feb.). Augustus causes Tiberius to adopt as his son Germanicus, son of Drusus; then Augustus adopts both as his own sons. Grant of ‘imperium proconsulare’ and ‘tribunicia potestas’ to Tiberius for ten years (so Dio; five years, Suet.); he defeats the Cherusci. The lex Aelia Sentia. Temple at Nemausus in honour of Gaius and Lucius (Maison Carrée at Nîmes).

Seianus, Prefect of the Praetorians, concentrates them in a camp just outside the city walls. Death of Drusus, son of Tiberius (attributed by Tacitus to Seianus). Temple in honour of Tiberius, Liuia and the Senate, at Smyrna.

177. END OF TIBERIUS’ REIGN.

Feud of Seianus with Agrippina. Final departure of Tiberius from Rome, after which time the new office of ‘Praefectus Vrbi’ becomes permanent (even in the emperor’s presence). Pontius Pilate procurator of Judaea.

Tiberius settles at Capreae.

Agrippina the elder and her son Nero exiled. Drusus, another son of Germanicus, imprisoned.

The history of Velleius Paterculus published.

Seianus receives the ‘imperium proconsulare’, but is soon after destroyed, with his family and many adherents. Macro succeeds to the command of the Praetorians.

Pontius Pilate, accused of maladministration, sent to Rome by L. Vitellius, legate of Syria. Herod Agrippa imprisoned.

Death of Tiberius at Misenum (16 Mar.). Phaedrus flourishes under Tiberius and Gaius.

178. THE REIGN OF GAIUS.

Gaius (Caligula) emperor (18 Mar.). Tiberius (grandson of the emperor Tiberius) forced to commit suicide. Gaius is consul for a few days; Claudius also consul (his first office). Birth of Nero (the future emperor).

Gaius ‘restores the comitia’. He puts to death and then deifies his sister Drusilla. Riots at Alexandria between Jews and Gentiles, who had tried to place statues of Gaius in the synagogues. Deposition of Auilius Flaccus, Prefect of Egypt. Macro’s enforced suicide.

Gaius visits Gaul. Hearing that an altar erected to him on the borders of Judaea had been destroyed by Jews, he orders the legate of Syria to place an imperial effigy in the temple at Jerusalem. Herod Agrippa takes over the dominions of Antipas. Auilius Flaccus executed. After making a feint on Britain, Gaius returns to Rome (31 Aug.). Deputation of Jews and Greeks from Alexandria, described by Philo (a member of it) in the ‘Legatio ad Gaum’. Herod Agrippa induces Gaius to cancel his order about the temple at Jerusalem.

179. THE REIGN OF CLAUDIUS.

Gaius killed (24 Jan.) partly on account of immense taxation and confiscation. Claudius made emperor next day. The first example of a ‘donative’ to soldiers on accession. The murder of Gaius is avenged and his sisters are recalled. Herod Agrippa’s dominions, increased by cession of Judaea, are now nearly as extensive as those of Herod the Great. Judaea ceases to be a procuratorial province. Iulia Livia, sister of Gaius, banished at the instance of Messalina. This entails the exile of Seneca, who wrote his ‘Consolatio ad Marciam’ about this time, and his ‘Consolatio ad Helviam’ during exile.
Curtius Rufus flourishes under Claudius. Commagene restored to a na"ive prince.

42 The Romans for the first time cross the Atlas range. Two provinces of Mauretania organised ('Caesariana' and 'Tingitana'), under procurators.

43 Expedition to Britain; Claudius there for 16 days. Defeat of Caractacus and capture of Camalodunum. The emperor's young son receives the title 'Britannicus'. A. Plautius governor of the new province. Seneca's 'Consolatio ad Polybiun'.

44 Achaia and Macedonia transferred to Senate. Quaestors replace 'praetores aeraii'. Death of Herod Agrippa. Judaea once more a province.

47 'Ludi Saeculares' (21 Ap.). Corbulo in Germany. Victories of Vespasian and Titus in Britain. Triumph of A. Plautius (the last full triumph accorded to a subject). Claudius (by 'plebiscitum') adds three new letters to the alphabet.

48 Claudius grants the Aedui the right to become senators. As censor he registers about 7,000,000 citizens. Death of Messalina and her paramour. Intrigues about a new imperial marriage.

49 Claudius marries his brother's daughter Agrippina (the candidate of Pallas) after an enactment had been passed permitting such marriages. Seneca recalled to become tutor to Agrippina's son Domitius. Octavia, daughter of Claudius, betrothed to Domitius.

50 Claudius adopts Domitius (henceforward L. Claudius Nero). Victory of Ostiorius Scapula over the Iceni. Foundation of Roman colony at Camalodunum, with an altar to Roma (or Victoria) and Claudius.

52 Felix (brother of Pallas) procurator in Judaea.

53 Marriage of Nero and Octavia.

54 Claudius poisoned (2 Oct.). Nero emperor (13 Oct.). Claudius deified. War with Parthia; Corbulo one of the commanders. Birth of Tacitus (probably). Seneca's 'Ludus de morte Claudii' (the 'Apocolocyntosis').

180. REIGN OF NERO.

55 Nero consul. Pallas ceases to be minister of finance, and is succeeded by Claudius Etruscus. Dissension between Nero and his mother. Britannicus poisoned. Seneca's 'De Clementia' (dedicated to Nero).

56 Seneca consul. The 'quaestores aeraii' replaced by 'praefecti aeraii', nominated by the emperor.

58 Active operations against Parthia. The emperor proposes to abolish all 'uectigalia', but is dissuaded.

59 Murder of Agrippina. Success of Corbulo in Armenia. Suetonius Paulinus legate in Britain.

60 Festus succeeds Felix in Judaea.

61 Vespasian consul. Capture of Mona by Paulinus. Great rising of Iceni (under Boadicea) and Trinobantes. Camalodunum burnt; Londinium and Verulamium captured by insurgents. Great slaughter of Romans and their allies. Victory of Paulinus, and suicide of Boadicea.

63 Arrangement with Parthia. 'Latinitus' bestowed on the people of the Maritime Alps.
Burning of Rome (19–28 July) and execution of Christians.
Great conspiracy of Piso, for which many suffer death (including Lucan) and many exile (among them Musonius Rufus). Death of Poppaea.
Many executions. Paetus Thrasea killed; also Petronius (author of the ‘Satirae’). Helvidius Priscus exiled. Wide-spread insurrection in Judaea, where Vespasian becomes military commander. The temple of Janus closed for the fifth time. Nero in Greece.
Victories of Vespasian and Titus over the Jews. Execution of Corbulon.

181. FALL OF NERO TO LAST YEAR OF VESPASIAN.

Further victories of Vespasian. Rebellion of Vindex, governor of Gallia Lugunensis, who is crushed at Vesontio by Verginius Rufus, legate of upper Germany (March). Galba, governor of the ‘provincia Tarraconensis’, becomes apretender to the throne. Nero, after being declared ‘publicus hostis’, is killed by a servant at his own request. Galba, accompanied by Otho, reaches Rome (Oct.). His unpopularity.

Vitellius, commander in lower Germany, is saluted as emperor by his troops, and the legions of upper Germany follow suit (Jan.). Adoption of Piso by Galba (10 Jan.). Galba and Piso killed by Praetorians, who make Otho emperor (15 Jan.). After some failures the legions of Vitellius defeat the forces of Otho at Bedriacum (14 Ap.). Suicide of Otho. Vitellius recognised as emperor (middle of July). Vespasian proclaimed emperor at Alexandria by Ti. Alexander, the Prefect (1 July). He is accepted by the soldiers in the East and on the Danube. His troops sack Cremona (end of Oct.), and capture Rome (11 Dec.), whereupon Vespasian is accepted as emperor. Death of Vitellius (24 Dec.). Rebellion of Batavian cohorts in Germany under Ciuilis.

Vespasian reaches Rome in Oct. The ‘lex regia Vespasiani’. Titus takes Jerusalem (Sept.). Julius Classicus and Julius Tutor proclaim the ‘imperium Galliarum’ (early in the year) and are joined by the troops and the Batavians with Ciuilis. Order restored by Cerealis, the legate of lower Germany. Institution of professorships by Vespasian; one filled by Quintilian.

Vespasian and Titus elected censors. Execution of Helvidius Priscus (about this time).

Sardinia with Corsica transferred to the emperor.

‘Latinitas’ conferred on all districts in Spain not already possessed of the full ‘cuiitas’. The last registration of Roman citizens completed.

Expulsion of philosophers. Suicide of Musonius Rufus. Temple of Pax completed.

Birth of Hadrian (24 Jan.). Parthian invasion of Syria.

Titus again elected censor. Agricola in Britain. Marriage of Tacitus with his daughter.

182. TITUS AND DOMITIAN.

Death of Vespasian and accession of Titus (23 June). Destruction of Pompeii and Herculaneum (Aug.). Death of Pliny the elder.

Great fire at Rome. The ‘Coliseum’ (Amphitheatrum Flavianum) and the ‘Thermae’ of Titus opened.

Alexander celebrates his 'victories' at Rome and next year leaves with his mother for Germany, to repel an invasion.

FROM THE DEATH OF SEVERUS ALEXANDER TO THE CAPTURE OF VALERIAN BY THE PERSIANS.

Soldiers at Moguntiacum kill Alexander and Mamaea (18 Mar.) and select as emperor C. Iulius Verus Maximinus (a Thracian). He has success on the Rhine in this and the next year.

M. Antonius Gordianus, pro-consul of Africa, declared emperor. He associates his son with himself. They are crushed and killed by the legate of Numidia (6 Ap.). The Senate deifies them and selects two new emperors, M. Clodius Pupienus Maximus to command the legions, and D. Caecilius Balbinus to administer civil affairs (16 Ap.). Maximinus killed while besieging Aquileia (17 June). The Praetorians kill Pupienus and Balbinus and raise the third Gordianus (aged 13) to the throne. The Goths cross the Danube for the first time. Barbarians ravage Moesia. Censorinus 'de die natali'.

Victories of Gordianus over Goths and Sarmatae, and next year over Persians.

Death and deification of Gordianus. Philippus 'the Arabian' succeeds.

Peace with Persia.

Goths in Moesia.

Décius, commander in Moesia, declared emperor, kills Philippus in the following year near Verona.

Widespread persecution of Christians by Decius. Plague appears and rages for 15 years.

M. Aemilius Aemilianus, commander in Moesia, named emperor by his troops; so also P. Licinius Valerianus (Valerian) in Moesia. Trebonianus Gallus defeated and killed by Aemilianus, who is himself killed soon after. Valerian reaches Rome and is recognised. His son Gallienus declared Augustus.

Goths invade Illyricum and Macedonia. Progress of other barbarians; Scythians (in Asia Minor) and Alamanni. Sapor, king of Persia, penetrates to Antioch.

Edict of Valerian against the Christians. Gallienus checks the Alamanni and Aurelian the Goths. Postumus proclaimed emperor in Gaul. Valerian visits the East.

Troubles with barbarians in several regions.

The Alamanni in Italy; defeated by Gallienus at Milan, and again in Gaul at Aquae Sextiae. Postumus, accepted by the legions of Britain and Spain, establishes the 'imperium Galliarum'.

Valerian captured by Sapor, who raids Asia Minor but is checked by a Palmyrene force.
189. THE ERA OF CONFUSION, TO THE ACCESSION OF DIOCLETIAN.

261 Several ephemeral emperors. Successes of Odaenathus, the general of Palmyra, against Sapor. Franks take Tarraco (about this time).
262 Scythians pillage Ephesus. Honours bestowed by Gallienus on Odaenathus, now recognised as king of Palmyra.
265 Attack on Postumus by Gallienus fails.
267 The Goths make their début as pirates, attack Illyricum and besiege Thessalonica. Odaenathus assassinated. A new pretender, Aurelius, marches on Rome. The Héruli taken into Roman service.
268 Postumus and Gallienus perish. M. Aurelius Claudius, the survivor of a number of pretenders, becomes emperor and defeats the Alamanni heavily by the Lago di Garda.
269 Ravages by Goths. Zénóbía (widow of Odaenathus) seizes Egypt.
270 Claudius dies of plague at Sirmium. His brother is chosen at Rome as successor, but is soon killed. Aurelian, proclaimed at Sirmium, is hard pressed by barbarians, and abandons the left bank of the Danube; also recognises Zenobia's conquests.
271 Barbarians invade Italy, and are defeated by Aurelian. Probus recovers Egypt. Aurelian begins the construction of a new wall round Rome.
273 Revolt of Palmyra, which is destroyed by Aurelian. Two pretenders, Firmus in Africa and Tetricus in Gaul, are overcome.
275 Aurelian murdered in Thrace (Jan.). The troops ask the Senate to choose an emperor; Tacitus is elected, but early next year meets his death in Asia.
276 Florianus, brother of Tacitus, chosen emperor at Rome; and M. Aurelius Probus by the Eastern legions. Florianus killed at Tarsus.
277 Probus beats the Germans, of whom he takes 16,000 into his service.
279 Large settlement of barbarians in Thrace.
280 Piracies by Franks. Several pretenders fail.
282 Soldiers kill Probus and raise Carus to the throne, but next year, after victories on the Danube and against Persia, he perishes (Dec.).

190. THE REIGN OF DIOCLETIAN.

284 Diocletian proclaimed emperor. Carinus, the son of Carus, holds Italy, and defeats Diocletian at Margus (in the following year) but is assassinated. The Persians cede Armenia and Mesopotamia.
285 Maximian becomes Caesar.
286 Diocletian takes the title 'Herculi' and bestows that of 'Iouius' on Maximian, who is now made Augustus, having won victories over the barbarians. Carausius proclaimed emperor in Britain.
287 Maximian crushes the Franks.
